Leaders in applied technology

Scania makes engines and is leader of technology, a leading international manufacturer of construction, transport and other powered vehicles. Scania's R&D investment is the world's largest. Our Tech-Drive Center manages the global program of Scania's R&D in 2007-08.

While technologically advanced, Scania's products are based on long experience, knowledge, and engineering capability. Scania's products are built with superior engineering and manufacturing practices, and are designed to meet the most demanding operating conditions.
